SEDİR ISLAND (KEDRAI)

THE PARADISE WHERE HISTORY AND NATURE MEET

Island of Legendary Loves

The legendary love between the famous Roman general Marcus Antonius and the Egyptian Queen Cleopatra, who gave her name to the island's beach, has been passed down from generation to generation and reached today. It is rumored that the legendary golden sand of the island was brought from Alexandria, Egypt by Marcus Antonius for his beloved Cleopatra. Sedir Island is a corner of heaven with its golden beach, turquoise blue sea and cultural assets that shed light on history.

The Paradise
Where History and Nature
Meet

Sedir Island is the largest of a triple island group in the Gulf of Gökova, full of ancient ruins of spectacular beauty. The necropolis area is located on the mainland and the island draws attention with its 2500-seat antique theatre, the Sanctuary of Apollo, the basilica, church buildings and the beach of unique beauty.

Honorary Inscription

The demos of Kedreai honored Teisias Theudamos with a golden wreath and a bronze statue and the right to sit ahead in the agones held in Kedreai, because of his virtue and his good intentions towards the city of Kedreai.
